Objectives:

This conference is designed to meet the following objectives.

- Describe basic skin anatomy, wound healing physiology, and the difference between acute and chronic wound healing
- Define the purpose for pressure ulcer risk assessment and accurately score a patients' risk using the Braden scale
- List several universal pressure ulcer prevention measures
- Accurately identify and assess six stages of pressure ulcers
- Differentiate between pressure ulcers and other common wounds
- Choose appropriate dressings and other interventions and/or specialty consultations based on pressure ulcer characteristics
- Identify collaborative opportunities across the continuum to heighten awareness and improve communication related to the care of individuals at risk or with pressure ulcers

Pre-registration is required. Seats are limited. We regret that we cannot accommodate walk-ins on the day of the workshop. Sorry, no refunds.
